

A portrait of Carolyn Levy, a woman with long brown hair, wearing a pink blazer over a pink top, smiling. The background is a light blue wall with a whiteboard.

carolyn levy

President, Randstad Technologies
& Chief Diversity Officer

about carolyn

Carolyn Levy is President, Randstad Technologies for Randstad Canada. She leads the division's strategic direction, and matches exceptional tech talent with leading organizations across the country. Recognized for her leadership and vision, Carolyn has become a sought-after speaker and commentator on workplace trends, the technology industry, and women's empowerment and advancement, with a focus on STEM fields.

Appointed Randstad Canada's Chief Diversity and Inclusion Officer in 2020, Carolyn ensures the organization prioritizes and invests in diversity, employment equity and accountability.

Her forward-thinking, inclusive and collaborative approach helps Randstad Canada and its business partners break down barriers to build stronger, more diverse organizations, and meaningful career pathways for individuals from under-represented groups.

“As a leader in the world of work and a true human partner, there’s never been a better moment for us to use the power of our collective voice. We must speak up loudly and advocate for a more sustainable, diverse and inclusive world of work that offers equal employment opportunities for all.”

speaking opportunities: key themes

How to ensure fairness, equality and diversity in attracting, hiring, compensating, motivating and promoting a top performing workforce.

Increasing BIPOC representation in leadership, staff and talent pipeline.

Creating a new future for women in technology: empowering the next generation of women

Equipping talent and organizations with the IT and digital skills they need to succeed in the tech-driven world of work

latest interviews and conferences

- #Movethedial Podcast - Creating Space for Authenticity: <https://movethedial.com/podcast>
- Canada's top jobs with the fastest-growing demand in 2021: Randstad, in Global News, January 16, 2021)
- Workin' moms: Juggling kids, jobs and household duties, women fear COVID-19 will 'deepen' gender inequality in the workplace, interview in Toronto Star, May 11 2020
- Need a job? Here's who's hiring right now in Canada interview for Global News, June 20 2020
- Is working from home actually working for anyone? interview for CBC news, May 23 2020
- Re-skilling workers will reduce COVID-19 unemployment risks, HRD, June 23 2020

women transforming the workplace

Carolyn is the Executive Ambassador of Randstad Canada's Women Transforming the Workplace program. The program, now in its third year, aims to empower women by promoting women's leadership and influence through gender equality, access to opportunities and inclusivity. Through a number of initiatives including white papers, round tables and podcasts, the program dives into the challenges women face in the ever-demanding, technology-driven world of work, and addresses the opportunities women can seize to reinvent and transform the workplace from their own unique, collaborative and resourceful perspective. Based on this and other initiatives, Randstad Canada has been recognized multiple times as one of the "Best Workplaces in Canada for Women" by the Great Place to Work Institute. In addition, Randstad Canada was awarded in 2019 an Achievement in Communications Excellence for the Women Transforming the Workplace program from the Canadian Public Relations Society and received Bronze Certification from Women in Governance as part of its Gender Parity Certification program.

"This program has shifted preconceptions about women in the workplace. The idea that women are risk-averse and uncomfortable with speaking up or challenging leadership has been shattered. Women are telling us they want to innovate and drive change - and they want to be the ones driving the process."

To learn more about the program:

randstad.ca/women

To book Carolyn as a speaker for a conference, please contact:

Anne Yourt

anne.yourt@gmail.com

416-658-3835

<https://www.linkedin.com/in/carolyn-levy-sheher-57964112/>